LABYRINTH OF SIGNIFIERS

==========

We always chase infinity.
Always try to find the horizon
Where love and chimera converge into placid wantonness.
Where time sits by and gazes with disappointment at us.
As our dreams prolapse and slips into the dystopian periphery.
And we tumble headlong
With our superego bleeding profusely.
Hopelessly mapping jouissance against anxiety.

The dingy walls of our hearts
Reek of the pungent smell of abandonment and seclusion
And engages in constant strife between the self and the other.
Enmeshed within the labyrinth of signifiers
Decoding Lacanian axioms of stress and fear.
