

07

THE PROMISE

Jyoti Muglikar

Pune, MS, India

*****

The uncouth pace of a manifested silence
Solicitously flowed through the breezing irony of winter
Stabbing quietly, the premonition of a sabbatical blessing
The audacious gazes mercilessly saunter.

The sordid vanity of unreleased pauses
A pucker to the soul's ascending whisper
A weary sunrise on decrepit mountain shoulders
A wrinkled sky holding its rainbow's simper.

A slinkering of summer's ode to its myth blood streamed
Into the shoving gulps of the dawn's fable
A larceny of shadows palmed in my heart
Vacillating on the memory shores of Easter table.

The strands of wobbly rainy days
Parch the collars of legion of solitude
An echo escaping from the gorges of a blink
Like a poised promise hovering in a tropical altitude.

This is an Open Access e-Journal Published Under A Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License

To Cite the Article: Muglikar, Jyoti, "The Promise". Literary Cognizance, III-1 (June, 2022): 15-16. Web.

