

02

GLITTERING INK ON A BROKEN HEART

Tania Alphonsa George

Kollam, Kerala, India

=====***=====

Inability haunts these letters,
To battle with the fire of life.
And persist somewhere
in between being and belonging.
To feel deeply, then nothing at all.
This is the numbness that encapsulates every fibre.
Every fibre has been entwined with eternity.
This sadness is persistent like oceans that rage on.
Within the corridors of the mind.
Back and forth pain rages on.
The Present offers peace on a platter.
Peace that melts to a shrinking shriek.
Unconsumed voices chattering on,
In the Mind's Maze.
Creativity must come back longing to this pen.
The tryst between hope and inertia must come to a union.

This is an Open Access e-Journal Published Under A Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License

To Cite the Article: George, Tania, "Glittering Ink on a Broken Heart". Literary Cognizance, III - 4 (March, 2023): 05-06. Web.

