

17

RED SPIDER LILY

Palak Singh

*Vivekananda School of English Studies,
Vivekananda Institute of Professional Studies,
New Delhi, India*

I know it's hard to say goodbye
after the time spent long together.
We know that it will hurt both you and me together,
But have to part our ways from here on.
It will take time to heal the separation,
Making us both alive again.
We will meet again someday,
But things will be different from the way they are.
The names may be the same,
But the identity will be different, creating a wall.
So let's just say our final goodbye,
Just like The Red Spider Lily in the field of joy...

This is an Open Access e-Journal Published Under A Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License

To Cite the Poem: Singh, Palak. "Red Spider Lily." Literary Cognizance, V-4 (March, 2025): 35-35. Web.