

06

SILENCE

Shamsiya T.

M. A. English, Ideal College for Advanced Studies, Kadakassery, Dist. Malappuram, Kerala, India

Between my tongue, a silence lingers, stuck like an unsaid word in the kitchen air.
I hear a murmur rising softly behind my back:
“She is a useless one.”

Between my lips, his kisses rest—
not from love.
Between my breasts, a quiet stream forms,
flowing into an innocent mouth,
finding rest in his small stomach—
only for hunger.

Between my feet, only soil remains.
Yes, I am buried beneath that earth.
Again, a soft murmur rises...
that...
“She was the gem of her family.”

I just smiled.
There, silence expanded—
doing nothing,
being everything.

Article Received:05/02/2026

Article Accepted:13/02/2026

Published Online:30/03/2026

To Cite the Poem: T., Shamsiya. “Silence.” Literary Cognizance: An International Refereed/Peer Reviewed e-Journal of English Language, Literature and Criticism, Vol.-VI, Issue-4, March, 2026, 15-16. www.literarycognizance.com

This is an Open Access e-Journal Published under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License

